At Monday's meeting

Sixteenth section lease discussion to continue

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Hancock County School Board is expected to continue a controversial discussion on a parcel of Sixteenth Section land Monday at a recessed meeting.

The board split 2-2 on a motion Tuesday to accept a bid for a residential lease on the parcel fronting on the Caesar-Necaise Road near the county line from Durwin Spence.

Board member Tommy Shaw made the motion and Board President Billie Faye Lyons stepped down to second the motion.

Lennette Necaise and George Ladner voted nay. Monvel Cuevas was absent.

Necaise who has tried unsuccessfully on two occasions to have the parcel reclassified as commercial property said she voted against the motion because she believed it should be leased commercially to get the maximum revenue from the land.

Ladner said he felt the lease would cause too many problems in the community and because construction on the site might interfere with a natural drain on the property.

Necaise requested a letter from Constance Slaughter-Harvey, assistant secretary of state, regarding the lease of Sixteenth Section land be included in the board's minutes.

In the letter she stated a section of the statute which in view of the controversial situation "warrants serious review."

As quoted from the statute the letter stated, "Classifications shall be applied to (Sixteenth Section) lands based upon the findings of the highest and best use of each parcel or tract for producing a maximum of revenue by proper utilization."

The board decided to hold the matter of the lease over until Monday's meeting.

A second bid was received on the parcel of land but was submitted a day late.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Perniciaro settles car repair bill dispute

By DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Beat Three Supervisor Sam Perniciaro has been told by the State Audit Department that there was no conflict of interest involved when he recently repaired a wrecked sheriff's department vehicle.

The possibility of conflict of interest was brought up Tuesday when the $2,159 bill for the work appeared on a county claim docket.

Perniciaro said he actually did the work for Hancock Insurance Agency.

The work included body work and painting on the front end of the automobile, which had been involved in a collision.

The bill was presented on the county claim docket because the insurance company had turned its payment check over to the sheriff's department. The check was then turned over to County Bookkeeper Elsie Kenney.

Kenney contacted Perniciaro about the check, which had been endorsed by Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

After discussing the matter with Board Attorney Joseph Gex, Peterson and Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, Perniciaro agreed to present the bill for the total amount of repair to the general county fund.

Attached to the bill was a note explaining that the insurance company check had been turned over to the sheriff's department.

Gex had advised Perniciaro to vote against the payment in order to avoid a possible conflict of interest.

At that time, Board President A.A. Kellar asked Perniciaro to explain his reasons for voting against the bill.

Perniciaro said the confusion over what was done," Perniciaro said.

"One reporter asked for an additional explanation after the meeting and then requested another explanation Thursday. On all three occasions, I told her I had been advised by Mr. Gex that my transaction regarding the sheriff's department patrol car was completely legal."

"I had Gex contact Jerre Nash of the State Audit Department Friday and was told that there was no conflict of interest, but he told him to obtain a state attorney general's opinion to make it final," Perniciaro added.

This written opinion is expected next week.

The money in question will be put back into the general county funds, since the payment was for an insurance claim and did not come from the sheriff's department budget.

The $200 deductible came out of the general county fund and would have been paid regardless of who repaired the automobile. The insurance check covered $1,959.

Kenney contacted Perniciaro about the check, which had been endorsed by Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Council urges school board to seek temporary classrooms, instead of trailer units

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis Council passed a resolution urging the school board to not "rush into" the purchase of modular classroom units Tuesday.

The Bay Municipal School District Trustees had begun advertising last week for modular classroom units to eliminate classroom shortages expected with the implementation of the kindergarten program.

In the motion by Councilman James Thriffiley, the city is also requesting the school board to seek suitable temporary classrooms and explore the feasibility of a ready-made campus that has cafeteria facilities acceptable to the health department.

The whole idea of looking for temporary quarters is to remove the pressure of getting permanent classrooms by September from the school board, architects, parents, Superintendent J. D. McCullough and Superintendent-elect Roger Ogle, Thriffiley said.

Several parents attending the meeting agreed with the council's actions.

Also at the meeting the council voted to withhold a payment of approximately $3,000 from the Lewis Partnership.

Mayor Victor Franckiewicz Jr. told the council according to recent adjustments to the account, the engineering firm would owe the city money after calculating change order fees and deductions for errors.

In other business the board:

Passed a resolution regulating activities in city parks which prohibits the use of public address system between the hours of 10 p.m. and 9 a.m. and the start of any activity in the parks after 10 p.m.

Voted to purchase an auxiliary power unit for the city's main water well on Harry St.

Passed a new ordinance, increasing the number of Parks and Playgrounds Commissioners from five to seven.

Collision kills Moss Point man

By DENA BISNETTE

A Moss Point man has been killed in a three-vehicle collision on Highway 43 in Kiln.

Cedric J. Moore, 23, was pronounced dead on the scene at 2:30 a.m. by Hancock County Coroner Harold Stiglet.

Moore died of multiple chest injuries and may have been thrown from the vehicle, Stiglet said.

Moore was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Stance Covian Jr., 21, also of Moss Point. Covian was injured and taken to Hancock General Hospital.

The accident occurred at about 1:30 a.m. about 2 miles from Highway 603. It is being investigated by State Trooper Bruce Ladner, who was assisted at the scene by Trooper David Kenney.

The cause of the collision is still under investigation.

Post office architect selected

The U.S. Postal Service has awarded a contract to the architectural firm of Shaw/Walker Architects, P.A., P.O. Box 1147, Gulfport to design the new main post office building in Bay St. Louis.

Postmaster Tom Hill said the proposed new postal-owned building will have approximately 23,253 gross square feet of floor space.

It will be located on a 4.6 acres (199,060 square feet) tract of land on the southwest corner of the intersection of US-90 and Bouslog Street.

When the architect completes the design in September 1986, the Postal Service will call for construction bids to build the building.

In our environment

What we do now determines future

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Problems 500 years from now may seem remote, but identifying and addressing pressing problems in that time period could hold the key to mankind's survival. In the first of a four-part series on 500-year problems and possible implications for Mississippi, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Land Use Coordinator Bob Chapin and a Tennessee researcher identify four long-range problems and describe one called the greenhouse effect.)

By Mitzi Waller

It may seem a bit far-fetched, but Mississippi and the rest of the world are faced with four long-term environmental problems that will continue to affect agriculture for the next 500 years.

The major problems are climatic change, human population growth causing extinction of other species, groundwater contamination and soil erosion, said Dr. Bob Chapin, coordinator of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Land Use Center.

"Some people may wonder why we should be concerned with 500-year problems," Chapin said. "If we don't address these problems now, the human species may not be here 600 years from now."

Chapin said the purpose of 500-year planning is not to decide what to plan for 500 years in the future, but to identify problems that must be corrected during that period.

"The goal of 500-year planning is to safeguard humanity's health, safety and welfare from what may happen if people short-sighted foul their own nests through greed and ignorance," Chapin said. "To solve long-range problems, the problems must first be identified."

There are recent examples of the importance of planning to avoid future problems. Severe flood on the Mississippi River approached the 100-year high in 1975 in Vicksburg. Mississippi River levees are designed for floods expected to occur only once in 250 years. The 1983 Easter flood on the Pearl River exceeded the 100-year high.

"Five-hundred-year problems take centuries to develop or show their full effects," added Bruce E. Tonn, a researcher at Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee. "They are caused by societies' effect on the natural system."

One world climate 500-year problem is a warming trend called the greenhouse effect. It is caused by a buildup of carbon dioxide (CO₂) in the atmosphere. The CO₂ prevents warmth from the sun from radiating back into space thus trapping the heat and leading to climatic warming.

Tonn said the CO₂ concentration could become high enough 70 years from now to cause a temperature increase of 2.7 to 8.1 degrees Fahrenheit.

This could cause the west Antarctic ice sheet to melt, slowly flooding the coastal areas. Rainfall patterns could also change, causing large areas of the country to become dry regions.

Chapin said the answer to the problem would appear to be to try to stabilize CO₂ in the atmosphere to keep the climate like it is now.

"What effects these changes have on our descendants in Mississippi could include a gradual movement back from the Gulf as ice caps melt," Chapin said. "Warmer, drier climate would increase yields of crops like cotton, which likes a warm, dry climate."

"It could have a negative effect on soybeans which reduces growth rate with temperatures above 95 degrees," Chapin said. "Both cotton and soybeans would require more irrigation. Crops could have earlier planting dates with more heat units."

Livestock could have better grass in winter but less in the hot summer months of July and August. Poultry would suffer more heat stress from temperatures above 97 degrees but less from lower humidity under 70 degrees.

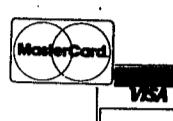

Chapin said forest patterns and vegetation could change with southern species moving further north. If winters were warmer, commercial citrus might even return to south Mississippi.

"It does raise the question as to why the last 25 years have gotten colder if temperatures are expected to increase three to eight degrees," Chapin said. "This could be caused by dust in the atmosphere."

Major sources of air pollution in the United States by percentages are: 42 percent from transportation; 21 percent from fuel combustion; 14 percent from industrial processes; 10 percent from miscellaneous sources; 8 percent from forest fires; and 5 percent from solid waste disposal.

Humans who inhale oxygen and exhale carbon dioxide are another source of CO₂. Trees and other plants reverse the process through their leaves by taking in CO₂ and expelling oxygen.

Chapin said burning all fossil fuel resources might increase CO₂ by up to 400 percent. Stabilizing fossil fuel emissions through coal gasification or other means and maintaining a green plant-covered earth appear to be the best answers to climate control.

We can never remember a shrimp season opening with so many boat sinkings.

Reports of shrimpers sinking were all around, and to our knowledge there were no injuries.

Strong winds made the waters very choppy and several boats were really too small to be out after the shrimp.

We do know of some equipment lost as well as damages to engines because of the boat sinkings.

I have been told of an injury to the pride of one shrimper, as he comes from a long family line of fishermen. We won't mention his name because his family may disclaim him, and he may also get even with me.

We heard of one shrimper, whom we know, who rode in a boat from Bay St. Louis to Bayou Cadet and on the way got very sick because of the choppy waters.

One source told me the Bay native was ready to walk back to Bay St. Louis rather than return by boat.

There is this other alleged shrimper who sunk his boat Thursday in the ship channel. About three years ago he got tired of shrimping and gave it up, so he said. Anyway, he sold his boat and equipment.

A good source reported he had a new motor and hadn't even made the first payment when it went under water.

The catches by the boats remaining afloat were reportedly good, even with the choppy waters.

The county is still buzzing about the strong voter support in changing the county's operations from a beat to a unit system.

In some areas voters were ready for a change while they were not in others, as the 'ethics amendment' took a beating statewide, and it has been around since 1890.

We hope everyone will work with our supervisors in making the changes.

A blood drawing will be Wednesday at the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139, Bay St. Louis.

A quota of 100 units has been set for this drawing, so this will mean there will be a need for many donors.

As many of you know, blood drawings have been held regularly at the Legion post with John Rutherford as chairman for many years.

Since it will be John's birthday Wednesday, I believe the best present he could receive would be the collection of more than 100 units of blood.

There are many volunteers who help with the blood drawings including local doctors, nurses and those who help with the record keeping.

In the blood drawing over the years there are several people who have actually donated gallons of blood, one unit at a time.

We hope to see you at the blood drawing Wednesday.

By the way, it will be from 3 to 7 p.m. at the Legion home located on Green Meadow Road near Bay Senior High School.

The People's Business

PASSING ON FREE ENTERPRISE

A group of 30 of Mississippi's finest teachers will be spending a week together on the Gulf Coast this summer. They won't be there for vacation, although they probably will enjoy the scenery and the balmy breezes. Rather, they will be there for five days of intensive study of the American free enterprise system.

And, when their work is done there, they will return to their public and private school districts across Mississippi and begin this fall teaching other teachers what they learned this summer.

The teachers are selected for this special assignment by the American Enterprise Center, the free enterprise education arm of the Mississippi Economic Council.

Scholarships are provided for the teachers by the American Enterprise Center, and the teachers, in return for the scholarships, commit themselves to the training of other teachers in their local school districts during the school year.

The summer free enterprise institute for teachers is an ongoing program of the American Enterprise Center.

Over the past six years, some 300 teachers have received the graduate level instruction and more than 6,000 Mississippi teachers have received in-service instruction from those summer institute graduates.

This is just another way the American Enterprise Center continues to meet its commitment to pass on to every generation of Mississippians the virtues and values of our free enterprise system.

HURRICANES

Major hurricanes are relatively rare events at any location. Coastal residents from Brownsville, Tex., to Eastport, Me., have a good chance of living many years without experiencing one. But none of our coastal areas are immune. "Not here! We haven't had a hurricane in years," could be the most dangerous words you'll ever hear. It's best to be prepared. This could be the year.

Hurricanes are tropical cyclones in which winds reach constant speeds of 74 miles per hour or more, and blow in a large spiral around a relatively calm center—the eye of the hurricane. Every year, these violent storms bring destruction to coastlines and islands in their erratic path.

Stated very simply, hurricanes are giant whirlwinds in which air moves in a large tightened spiral around a center of extreme low pressure, reaching maximum velocity in a circular band extending outward 20 or 30 miles from the rim of the eye. This circulation is counterclockwise in the Northern Hemisphere, and clockwise in the Southern Hemisphere. Near the center, hurricane winds may gust to more than 200 miles per hour. The entire storm dominates the ocean surface and lower atmosphere over tens of thousands of square miles.

The eye, like the spiral structure of the storm, is unique to hurricanes. Here, winds are light and skies are clear or partly cloudy. But this calm is deceptive, bordered as it is by maximum force winds and torrential rains. Many persons have been killed or injured when the calm eye lured them out of shelter, only to be caught in the maximum winds at the far side of the eye, where the wind blows from a direction opposite to that in the leading half of the storm.

Hurricane winds do much damage, but drowning is the greatest cause of hurricane deaths. As the storm approaches and moves across the coastline, it brings huge waves, and storm tides which may reach 25 feet or more above normal. The rise may come rapidly, flooding coastal lowlands. Waves and currents erode beaches and barrier islands, undermine waterfront structures, and wash out highway and railroad beds. The torrential rains that accompany the hurricane produce sudden flooding as the storm moves inland. As its winds diminish, rainfall floods constitute the hurricane's greatest threat.

The hurricanes that strike the eastern United States are born in the tropical and subtropical North Atlantic Ocean, the Caribbean Sea, and the Gulf of Mexico. Most occur in August, September and October, but the six-month period from June 1 to Nov. 30 is considered the Atlantic hurricane season.

The principal regions of tropical cyclone origin vary during the season. Most early (May and June) storms originate in the Gulf of Mexico and western Caribbean. In July and August, the areas of most frequent origin shift eastward, and by September are located over the larger area from the Bahamas southwestward to the Lesser Antilles, and thence eastward to south of the Cape Verde Islands, near the west coast of Africa. After mid-September, the principal areas of origin shift back to the western Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico.

On average, six Atlantic hurricanes occur per year. However, there are significant deviations from this average. In 1910 and 1950, 11 hurricanes were observed, and no hurricanes were observed in 1907 and 1914. During 1893, 1950, and 1961 seasons, four hurricanes were observed in progress at the same time.

Some hurricanes (usually weaker than their Atlantic counterparts) may strike Southern California and bring torrential rains to the southwest U.S.

Hurricanes begin as relatively small tropical cyclones which drift gradually to the west-north-west (in the Northern Hemisphere), imbedded in the westward-blowing, tradewinds of the tropics. Under certain conditions these disturbances increase in size, speed, and intensity until they become full-fledged hurricanes.

The storms move forward very slowly in the tropics, and may remain almost stationary for short periods of time. The initial forward speed is usually 15 miles per hour or less. Then, as the hurricane moves farther from the Equator, its forward speed tends to increase; at middle latitudes it may exceed 50 miles per hour in extreme cases. The great storms are driven by the heat released by condensing water vapor, and by external mechanical forces. Once cut off from the warm ocean, the storm begins to die, starved for water and heat energy, and dragged apart by friction as it moves over the land.

Getting ready for a hurricane

Imagine a hurricane is in the Gulf of Mexico and is threatening the Mississippi Coast. Monitoring your local radio, NOAA Weather Radio or television for the latest Hurricane Advisories is a must. These advisories are usually updated every three hours.

Hurricanes can cause power failures, so make sure your battery-powered equipment is ready. Water may become contaminated, so be sure to store a supply of drinking water in clean bathtubs, jugs or bottles.

Have your car's fuel tank full in case a quick evacuation is ordered.

Board windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape.

Outdoor objects such as garbage cans, garden tools and toys should be put away or secured. Boats need to be moved to a designated safe area or moored securely.

By Senator Gene Taylor

Costly special session accomplished little

I was most displeased with the results of the recent Special Session of the Legislature which was called to fund the highway department for fiscal year beginning July 1.

I supported taking $12 million from the highway department budget and I am disappointed that there were not enough votes to appropriate this money to the agencies which are in the most critical need.

Our institutions of higher learning will lose top faculty members as they are forced to eliminate programs and cannot give salary increases to those who stay.

Our county welfare programs will suffer because of huge layoffs.

Our regional mental health centers and the state mental hospital will have to curtail services to people genuinely in need of them.

Our junior colleges will have to shut down a number of programs.

Our Gulf Coast Research Laboratory will suffer drastically.

The $12 million would not have brought any of these agencies back to past levels of funding, but it would have gone a long way toward continuing some of the many needed services and programs.

I think that it was irresponsible to leave this money undistributed and I was among the senators who fought to appropriate this money.

I have no quarrel with the highway department because I recognize that good highways are important to the safety of our people and to the economic development of the state.

I supported a bonding program which would have given the highway department a stable source of revenue while freeing up even more cash for other agencies.

However, when the governor and the House of Representatives continually refused to address bonding, I thought the Senate should have yielded to appropriate the $12 million.

In my opinion this was a costly session which accomplished little.

Wastewater board to confer with pollution control officials on disputed engineering costs

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District Board has called a special conference with Bureau of Pollution Control officials in an effort to resolve a debate over engineering costs.

The meeting will be 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Waveland Library. Representing the bureau will be John McCarty, project engineer, and Tom Webb, bureau procurement officer.

District Administrator Ethel Schott requested the conference during a discussion of the charges at Wednesday's board meeting.

The board has maintained that cost adjustments made by the engineering firm, Reynolds, Smith and Hills of Jacksonville, Fla., are too high.

The adjustments were made when Segments III and IV of the district's current project, which will link the Bay St. Louis and Waveland sewage collection and treatment systems, were reorganized into Segments III, IV and V.

Representatives of Reynolds, Smith and Hills will also be present at Tuesday's meeting, Schott said.

On Wednesday, the board rejected a plan for reducing cost by allowing Reynolds, Smith and Hills to associate with a local firm.

News brief

SCKWABACKER FUND

A Sherry Schwabacher fund has been established at Hancock Bank to help defray her hospital expenses.

Schwabacher was seriously injured last week in an accident with an automobile while riding on her bicycle.

The fund has been organized by friends of Schwabacher's who are members of the Cycles Plus Bike Club in Bay St. Louis.

Schwabacher, who was reportedly in critical condition Wednesday, continues in the intensive care unit at Hancock General Hospital. Her condition is now listed as serious.

The plan would have reduced some travel costs but would not have significantly reduced the cost of the engineering services, Schott explained.

William Ver Eecke of Reynolds, Smith and Hills provided the board with a list of possible local associates, but none of the firms on the list had experience with the type of sewage treatment plant included in the district's project.

A new state regulation, however, has allowed the board to provide up to five engineering firms with outlines of the scope of the project and services needed for Segment III, which consists of improvements to the existing Waveland treatment plant.

Reynolds, Smith and Hills will provide that outline and will be one of the firms whose prices will be considered, Schott added.

Before the regulation took effect, the district was allowed to consider only qualifications, not price, when obtaining professional services.

"We will be looking at two major questions Tuesday. One is whether we can use a list of firms we have obtained in taking proposals for Segment V," Schott said.

The district will probably have to advertise the Segment III services if the list can not be used, she added.

"The second thing we will look at is having the Bureau of Pollution Control review the scope to make sure that all the services included are necessary and that there are no extras," the administrator said.

Whether or not the district actually needs all of the services in the revised cost estimate submitted by Reynolds, Smith and Hills has been one of the major questions during the cost debate.

In other business Wednesday, the board:

—Authorized finalization of contract for engineering services for Segment V; and —Approved increasing the scope of Segment V to include planning for four county subdivisions originally part of Segment IV and the remainder of the county south of Interstate-10.

'Pajama Tops' cast finds weak script no problem

BY DENA BISNETTE

Direction and acting were no problem for the performers in Diamondhead Dinner Theater's recent production of "Pajama Tops."

The problem was a weak script, but the performers efficiently turned the weakness into comedy.

"Pajama Tops" is an adaptation of a French farce that revolves around a man's lie to his wife and attempts to keep his wife from finding out.

The lying husband, Georges Chauvinet, is played by Ed. Scanlan, and his wife Yvonne Chauvinet is played by Barbara Pursey.

The subject of the lie, Chauvinet's mistress Babette Latouche, is played by Susie Veglia. Terry Thompson portrays her husband Jacque Latouche, a fugitive masquerading as a butler.

Rounding out the cast are Ricky Thorp as Police Inspector Legrand, who is seeking a scandal to round out a quiet career; Elizabeth Hart as the Chauvinet's maid Claudine, who is seeking a scandal to launch her career as a grand courtesan; and Martin Booda as a classmate-turned-poet who needs some help from his old friend Georges Chauvinet.

The play is directed by Julian Raymond, who shows evidence of his professional experience in the film industry in his attention to detail.

Particularly setting the Diamondhead production apart from most amateur theater productions are careful enunciation by all actors; blocking that uses all of the small dinner theater stage rather than only the center section; and attention to body movement to accelerate the action of the script and help distinguish characters from each other.

Booda steals the show by playing what turns out to be, in effect, two characters.

When Jolijoli enters the play, he has just been robbed and is turning to his old friend for help. He is neurotic not only over the robbery, but whenever exposed to the one thing he hates most of all—women.

When asked to masquerade as Jacques Latouche to help Georges Chauvinet hide the fact that Babette Latouche is his girlfriend and not his business partner, Jolijoli explodes into terror.

Later in the charade, Jolijoli changes and no longer casts suspicious glances all over the room and dancing nervously on his toes. Instead, he looks people straight in the eyes and welcomes women with open arms.

Competing with Booda is Veglia as Babette LaTouche, who has a secret of her own and a plan for revenge against her married boyfriend. Veglia plays the character as a lovely but ruthless woman who can and will hurt anyone who has hurt her, including her husband.

Thompson plays Jacques LaTouche as a quiet, mischievous fugitive who waits for opportunity to knock on his door. He acts constantly amused by the other characters, except for his hostility toward Jolijoli.

Pursey relies heavily on charm and smiles in playing the initially trusting Yvonne Chauvinet, which contrasts well with Scanlan's nervous pacing and grimaces as his character comes closer and closer to being caught in his lie.

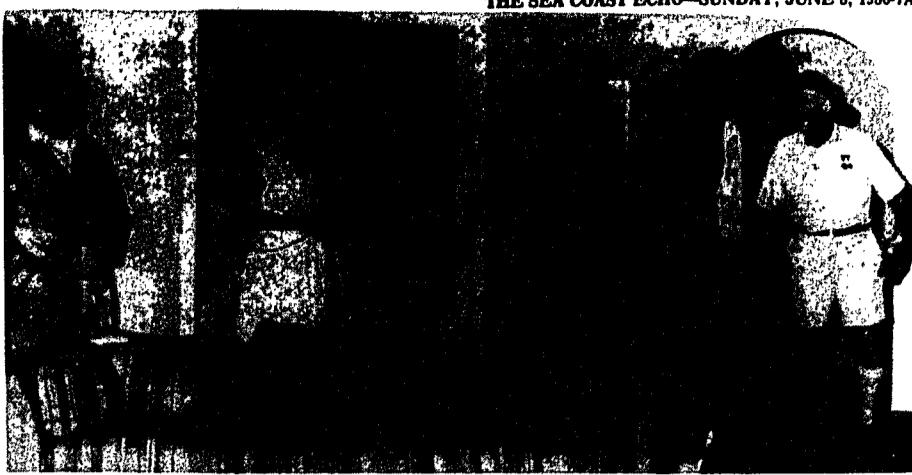

Thorp works against type in playing the police inspector. Instead of being the typically reserved policeman of amateur theater, Thorp's character is boisterous and jolly.

Another scene stealer is Hart, who plays the maid Claudine. Hart's acting style differs from the other characters in that she speaks more to the audience than to the other characters on stage.

She also works more physically on her part, giving Claudine a studly sexy walk and a voice that hides the maid's intelligence.

Also assisting with the production were Brierley Acker, publicity; Peter Smith, George Smith and Shawn Acker, lights; Mary Ellen Griffin, stage manager; Bob Kresse, props; and Betty Claggett, make-up.

The set was designed by Scanlan and constructed by Scanlan, Thorp, George Smith, Peter Smith and R.B. Boatright.

REAL VIEWS ON REAL ESTATE

HOME INSPECTION

Question: I am interested in having my home inspected by a qualified person prior to putting it on the market. Is this a good idea and is it worth the money? C.R., Jackson

Answer: Dear C.R.:

The home inspection business has grown tremendously in the past ten years. Originally viewed as a consumer protection service for the buyer, home inspection is also becoming recognized as tool to protect both the real estate agent and the seller in the real estate transaction.

In fact, some real estate firms now require the buyer to sign a statement saying they have waived the inspection if they choose not to have one.

Home inspectors vary significantly in training and experience and also in the kind of reports they provide. They all work for the buyer and give, in the words of one inspector, "one man's opinion as to the structural integrity and quality of the building."

The written reports are extensive and usually cover foundation, structural elements, furnace, plumbing, electrical wiring, windows, stairs, appliances, insulation, siding, roof, floors, drainage and ventilation; in short, a complete review of the home's interior and exterior condition.

Research society to review Eiffel's role in design of the Statue of Liberty

The Gulf Coast Chapter of Sigma XI Scientific Research Society will hold its annual awards banquet June 13, 6:30 p.m. at the Pinewood Country Club in Slidell.

Sigma Xi is an honorary organization founded in 1886 to encourage research in the pure and applied natural sciences, medical sciences, mathematics and engineering.

There are more than 125,000 scientists affiliated with approximately 500 chapters and clubs across North America.

The Gulf Coast Chapter, established at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories, consists of over 100 members and associate members who reside and work in the surrounding communities.

The program for the banquet will be introduced by Marshall Jennings of the U. S. Geological Survey. Jennings will show a narrated slide presentation entitled, "Gustave Eiffel: The Other Man Behind the Great Lady." The presentation, produced by The American Society of Civil Engineers and The Canton Art Institute, highlights the professional life of the great French engineer Eiffel and his role in structural design of the Statue of Liberty. The presentation also presents unique computer graphics of the Statue of Liberty restoration project.

The program also includes presentation of the 1986 Gulf Coast Science and Mathematics Teacher Award and a certificate of recognition to an individual who has provided noteworthy support to the Chapter's research scientists and engineers. Nominations for the teacher award were received in response to a request for nomination mailed to 63 schools in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties, southern Pearl River County and eastern St. Tammany Parish in Louisiana.

In addition, eleven new members will be initiated and new officers will be installed. Current officers are Denis A. Wiesenburg, president; Kim David Saunders, president-elect; Brenda J. Little, secretary; all three from the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA); and Doreen Tai of the USGS Gulf Coast Hydroscience Center.

What an amazing land is America!

EDITOR'S NOTE: With Flag Day to be celebrated Saturday, June 14, closely followed by Independence Day, July 4, the following article on patriotism, has been submitted by an official of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary in Bay St. Louis.

By Dr. Esther Oschmann
Patriotic Instructor of DAV Auxiliary
State of Mississippi

What an Amazing land is this America: it is a land of plenty, beyond dreams, where luxuries unknown to kings, are commonplace to everyone; where opportunity for health, wealth and happiness opens wide, where justice rules, and where the individual is free to think and to act as he chooses so long as he does not infringe on the rights of others.

To establish and maintain this land of ours has required courage and vision, hard work, hardship, suffering and sacrifice.

It has required men and women who gave of themselves instead of taking all they can get for themselves. It has required the lives of hundreds of thousands of Americans given on battle fields throughout the world.

America is such an amazing land, such a wonderful land, because for so long it has been a land of individual freedom with faith in GOD as the rock on which America is founded. From the beginning, down from the pages of history, Americans have put belief and love of God first.

When the Pilgrim Fathers landed in the New World, their first act was to fall to their knees and thank God for their safe arrival. They came to these shores to have freedom to worship God.

Only a few weeks after their first settlement was established, the elders called the Colonists together for the First Thanksgiving Day—a day set aside to remember forever after, to thank God for the bounty of this land. During the war of Independence, in the dark hours of the winter at Valley Forge, and at any other time of crisis, we know that General Washington prayed for heavenly guidance.

In every hour of need he turned to God for help. Our other great patriots down through the years have relied on prayer to help them meet their heavy tasks and make the right decisions.

Before meetings of the President, his advisors and staff, prayer is always first. All over America people go to church. Any Sunday morning in any American town, finds men, women and children on their way to church or Sunday School.

Love of America is closely related to Love of God. We have never forgotten that our Founding Fathers have always put God first. Freedom to worship was the important reason for coming to America to build a new nation.

In all America's great patriotic organizations faith in God and our country go hand in hand. In reviewing our pledges to the allegiance to our Flag and our country we must first of all give thanks to God.

Communism will never conquer the free world as long as we keep prayer first. No matter what arguments are presented, no matter how much false propaganda are presented or circulated, communism will never win over our faith in God. Behind the Iron Curtain, millions of people are denied the right to worship God. Their only hope lies in the staunch hope and faith in the free world beyond the Iron Curtain. We who enjoy the benefits of freedom have a moral obligation to these enslaved people. We must continue to be the living proof that the free world, the free way of life for all mankind. Word will seep thru the Iron Curtain that America will remain a brave free nation under God.

History records that in June 1775, when Jefferson signalized his service by the authorship of the Declaration of Independence. The fact remaining that the Declaration of Independence was signed by 56 men who served as sponsors of this Nation's destiny, when their signatures to that document were prefaced to the words:

"We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our good intentions, do, in the name of and by the authority of the good people of these colonies solemnly publish and declare, that these United Colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states, they have the full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things, which independent states may of right do, and for the support of the Declaration with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our Sacred Honor."

Those 56 men took it upon themselves a serious responsibility which could not have been upheld in the years of bitter war that followed, had they not have been supported by the people themselves; furthermore, being personally proscribed (along with all members of their families) as traitors by the British Government and with a reward of 500 pounds, $2400, offered for their apprehension, they risked even greater personal danger.

That the sentiment expressed in the Declaration of Independence, voiced the opinions of not one class of citizens, but the rank and file of the nation, is attested to, in the fact that the classification of the signers, by occupation, included: 8 farmers; 1 general; 25 lawyers; 2 merchants; 1 minister; 6 physicians; 1 planter; 1 printer; 1 sailor; 1 shoemaker; 1 soldier; 1 surveyor; 2 statesmen.

These men are indelibly written into the history of this nation; but it is more important we bring to public consciousness time after time, these words to which signatures attested:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the governed."

Today, years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the words of that document have stood the test of time and continue to speak for the people of this nation as strongly as they did in 1776.

Today, as then, those words could not endure nor withstand the attacks of cold war, communistic doctrines or enemy attack if they did not represent the principles of a government that had the unified support of the nation's citizens to give it strength.

This, then, is Liberty's Heritage to the citizens of America which can and will endure so long as the people of the United States like the signers of the Declaration of Independence are ready to affirm, "and for the support of this declaration with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes and our Sacred Honor."

In that solemn pledge and its fulfillment rests the continued protection of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" under a government deriving "just powers from the governed," as the American citizen's heritage of liberty.

We are among the proudest, strongest, and most dedicated people on earth. We must do everything in our power to see that our nation remains free and prosperous for generations to come. We must honor, respect and recognize our long standing commitment to God and country, and our flag.

PINCH YOUR PETUNIAS

Get ready to pinch petunias as soon as the hot weather appears. Petunias are thermoperiodic, so their growth habit varies according to temperature and day length.

At temperatures of 62°F and below, the plants will always be well-branched, bushy, compact and multi-flowered.

From 63° to 75°F, day length affects the plants' growth habit. If they receive less than 12 hours of daylight at these temperatures they will be single stemmed and have only one flower.

Long days at these temperatures will produce more ideal-looking plants.

At temperatures over 75°F, day

length no longer has an effect, and the plants will always be tall and leggy and bear very few flowers.

Pinch petunias at planting time in the early spring to encourage branching and flowering. By the second week in July they need a second pinching. Cut off each stem about three or four inches above ground level, weed, fertilize and clean up dead and dying leaves.

You will have flowers again in about two weeks. Pinch again in mid August and near the end of September (early in September if frost dates in your area come early) to maintain the display.

The five classes of petunias are:

(1) Grandiflora doubles - They can be used in containers as well as in beds. They provide a large range of solid colors and two-tone combinations.

(2) Multiflora doubles - When planted outside, these bloom more freely than grandiflora doubles. They are compact in growth and provide outstanding color, even under difficult conditions such as heat and drought.

(3) Single grandifloras - This class continues to lead in popularity because of its large and attractive individual flowers. Petals are ruffled or fringed or both and the flower size is medium or large. They are available in a wide range of colors. There are also many bicolors. Some grandifloras are better suited for containers, while others with more vigorous growth habits, are better in beds. Magic series' cultivars may be used either way.

(4) Single multifloras - This traditional bedding class of petunias provides vigorous plants in a large variety of colors and patterns.

(5) Single floribundas - This class, recently introduced, bears flowers that are between the grandifloras and multifloras in size. Its flowering habit is extremely prolific and the tolerance to disease and weather is excellent. 'Summer Madness' is the first cultivar in the class. It is a bright, rosy-red color with deep red veins and flowers "like mad."

PINCH YOUR PETUNIAS

Get ready to pinch petunias as soon as the hot weather appears. Petunias are thermophotoperic, so their growth habit varies according to temperature and day length.

At temperatures of 62°F and below, the plants will always be well-branched, bushy, compact and multi-flowered.

From 63° to 75°F, day length affects the plants' growth habit. If they receive less than 12 hours of daylight at these temperatures they will be single stemmed and have only one flower.

Long days at these temperatures will produce more ideal-looking plants.

At temperatures over 75°F, day

length no longer has an effect, and the plants will always be tall and leggy and bear very few flowers.

Pinch petunias at planting time in the early spring to encourage branching and flowering. By the second week in July they need a second pinching. Cut off each stem about three or four inches above ground level, weed, fertilize and clean up dead and dying leaves.

You will have flowers again in about two weeks. Pinch again in mid August and near the end of September (early in September if frost dates in your area come early) to maintain the display.

The five classes of petunias are:

(1) Grandiflora doubles - They can be used in containers as well as in beds. They provide a large range of solid colors and two-tone combinations.

(2) Multiflora doubles - When planted outside, these bloom more freely than grandiflora doubles. They are compact in growth and provide outstanding color, even under difficult conditions such as heat and drought.

(3) Single grandifloras - This class continues to lead in popularity because of its large and attractive individual flowers. Petals are ruffled or fringed or both and the flower size is medium or large. They are available in a wide range of colors. There are also many bicolors. Some grandifloras are better suited for containers, while others with more vigorous growth habits, are better in beds. Magic series' cultivars may be used either way.

(4) Single multifloras - This traditional bedding class of petunias provides vigorous plants in a large variety of colors and patterns.

(5) Single floribundas - This class, recently introduced, bears flowers that are between the grandifloras and multifloras in size. Its flowering habit is extremely prolific and the tolerance to disease and weather is excellent. 'Summer Madness' is the first cultivar in the class. It is a bright, rosy-red color with deep red veins and flowers "like mad."

A WALTER ANDERSON STILL LIFE

Friends of Walter Anderson

The Friends of Walter Anderson which has been organized for 13 years is a band of dedicated people working for a common goal: to collect, preserve and exhibit the works of Walter Anderson, a now renowned Mississippi artist who before his death in 1965 resided in Ocean Springs.

With this purpose foremost, the Friends organization is working toward a museum building which is now in the preliminary planning stage and which is to be situated in Ocean Springs on Washington Avenue next to the Community Center where some of Anderson's finest murals are found.

The Friends organization see this proposed museum building as an educational institution, not only to show works of Anderson, but also to feature traveling exhibits and to provide art history and projects for children.

Walter Anderson had an abiding sense of responsibility to transmit to his fellow man the power and beauty of nature. This is the primary thrust of his art, expressed in paintings, watercolors, prints, murals, decorative works, and also in writings.

His murals in public buildings, the old High school building and the Community Center in Ocean Springs, are notable.

A wide interest in Anderson is growing in this country through exhibitions, film, and publications, including publication of his own writings in the Horn Island Logs.

His works are now found in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Brooklyn Museum, the Smithsonian Institute, museums in Columbus, Georgia; Montgomery, Alabama; Memphis, Tennessee; Fitchburg, Massachusetts; and others, including the Mississippi Museum of Art in Jackson and the Lauren Rogers Museum in Laurel.

Throughout this year the Friends organization is holding a series of membership functions throughout the Gulf Coast.

Of interest to our part of the Coast was a membership drive party, for those recently subscribed or longterm members, in Pass Christian, at 7 Japonica Drive, on June 7 from 6 to 8 p.m.

Hosts were Sandra and Tom Shellnut and Liz and John Murphy.

Membership dues are $20 per couple, $15 for individuals. Checks may be forwarded to Mrs. Thomas Shellnut, 7 Japonica Drive, Pass Christian, 39571. Larger donations are also most acceptable! Checks should be made to Friends of Walter Anderson.

THE GIFT OF
THE HOLY SPIRIT
(Acts 2:38-39)

"Then Peter said unto them, Repent and be baptized every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to 'em' that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call." (Acts 2:38-39).

In the first century church there were different measures of the Holy Spirit. Jesus received the Holy Spirit "without measure." (John 3:34)

In this series of articles, we have seen the two instances of Holy Spirit baptism. Peter said this was the fulfillment of Joel's prophecy. (Acts 2:16) Joel said all flesh would be baptized of the Holy Spirit. Those on Pentecost were Jews and the household of Cornelius were Gentiles. In the New Testament Jew and Gentile covers all mankind.

There were two instances of the imparting of miraculous gifts of the Holy Spirit. Peter and John imparted the Holy Spirit to the Samaritans and Paul to the Ephesians. (Acts 8:17; 19:1-7). Philip, who performed miracles, could not impart the gifts.

The gift of Acts 2:38 was promised to those who responded to the preaching of the gospel on the day of Pentecost. It was promised to those "who are afar off." Paul used this expression to refer to the Gentiles. (Ephesians 2:13).

"Even as many as the Lord shall call" are all who obey the gospel of Christ from that day forward.

The question is then asked, "What does this gift of the Holy Spirit do for the Christian? & The late Brother Gus Nichols wrote, "I see no reason for disturbance among us over this question so long as all believe and teach that the Holy Spirit DOES dwell in faithful and obedient children of God in some way. The honest but misguided interpretation which may be made in trying to show how the Holy Spirit dwells in us should not, by those on either side, disrupt brotherly love and unity, and ravage our brotherhood. There are

Physicians' group affirms public's right to know about hazardous materials

One in every four employees is exposed to substances considered hazardous by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, according to a National Occupational Hazard Survey. Most of these employees are unaware of the presence of any hazardous substances.

In addition, the majority of health professionals, including emergency response teams, have little training in the detection of diseases from poisonous or toxic exposure.

The American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP) is calling for "right to know" laws that will provide workers, communities, and emergency medical personnel with information about poisonous materials in their working or living environment. The proposed laws include hazardous materials that are stored, transported, or disposed in or near communities.

The American College of Emergency Physicians is the thirteenth largest medical specialty society in the United States, with more than 11,200 members in the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico.

Its primary goal is to improve the quality of emergency medical care. ACEP works to accomplish this goal by providing continuing education for its members, and by educating the public on ways to access emergency medical care and prevent medical emergencies.

HOUSING TRENDS WORTH WATCHING

Question: In regard to changes in life styles, family sizes, etc., what are the new trends in the housing market? D.M., Corinth

Answer: Dear D.M.:

While housing activity is expected to be strong for the remainder of 1986, some interesting new factors transforming the market are worth watching by builders and people considering entering the housing market.

The first of these concerns a demographic trend. The end of the baby boom, which fueled so much of the housing demand during the last 15 years, caught up with us in 1980.

Since 1980, the number of people reaching adulthood and forming new households has dropped steadily and will continue to shrink until some time in the next century.

More surprising and even less noted is that the last wave of the baby boom has changed its style in living arrangements.

Today's young adults are not forming new households at the same rate as their older brothers and sisters.

The second new factor worth watching is the growing interest in the shorter fixed-rate mortgage. Mortgages with a 15-year term or those paid off biweekly are becoming increasingly popular.

Some critics contend an individual could get a better return on another investment while maintaining maximum liquidity rather than paying more on the mortgage every month.

Nevertheless, interest in these short-term instruments is expanding rapidly.

A third new wave is the growing demand by some home seekers for different type rooms in the house. For example, many young couples want a den instead of another bedroom. Utility and versatility are highly desirable for owners and renters.

Blueberry Jubilee set next weekend

The city of Poplarville is gearing up for the third annual Blueberry Jubilee which will be held Saturday, June 14 and Sunday, June 15 in downtown Poplarville.

Events planned for this two-day extravaganza will include a 5K race, a one-mile fun run, a bicycle race, men and women's body building competition, cooking contests, a foodfest and a blueberry eating contest.

Local bands and artists will perform all day both days of the Jubilee. Craft booths will be open and tours of the USDA facilities will be available both days also.

An outdoor worship service will precede Sunday's activities.

The best of the best. Every time.

Tallahassee Democrat

Better than USDA Choice! Better than Black Angus!
More highly selected than USDA Prime!

Certified Angus Beef

Experts agree: Certified Angus Beef is the tenderest, best tasting beef in America. And now, by special arrangement with the American Angus Association this top quality beef is available to you at National and Canal Villere.

ONLY ONE IN FOUR IS GOOD ENOUGH

The Certified Angus Beef stamp of approval carries such high quality standards that only one in four, just 25% of all the Angus cattle tested, are accepted. By contrast, the USDA Choice rating is given to 90% of all beef graded. Even beef advertised as "Black Angus" offers no assurance that it could pass Certified Angus Beef inspections.

THE DIFFERENCE IS IN THE MARBLING

The difference between an average steak and a tender, juicy Certified Angus Beef steak is the marbling — the small flecks of white throughout the beef. The marbling in Certified Angus Beef insures a better tasting cut of meat every time.

EVEN OUR TRIMMING IS SPECIAL

To make sure you get the very best value our meat department trims each cut of Certified Angus Beef to a maximum of $\frac{1}{4}$ inch of fat. This not only saves you money but helps make Certified Angus Beef lower in cholesterol than skinless chicken.

LOOK FOR THE SHIELD

So, if you're looking for the best tasting beef in America, just look for the special Certified Angus Beef section in our fresh meat case. The Certified Angus Beef shield guarantees that you'll be serving beef that's better than USDA Choice, better than "Black Angus" and even more highly selected than USDA Prime.
